ABOUT THE ARTIST

Julien Serve (Paris, 1976) is a multimedia artist and graduate of the Institut des Beaux-Arts in Paris-Cergy. Serve's background is in painting, though he works through a variety of media including photography, video, and drawing. His art shows a variety of interests; a fascination with anatomy often recurs, as does a predilection with rooms - what they contain, and everything they don't. Among his noted pictures is a portrait of Joan of Arc currently on display at the Château du Rivau.
