ABOUT THE ARTIST

Danila Tkachenko (Moscow, 1989) explores isolation, destitution, and human identity through his pictures. His work in the field of documentary photography has received considerable acclaim, with a focus on his series "Restricted Areas", that portrays the once era-defining innovations of the Soviet Union in their current abandoned, almost black and white state. "Restricted Areas" earned Tkachenko the first prize in Staged Portraits at the World Press Photo contest, Netherlands (2014), and he was the recipient of the European Publishers Award for Photography (2015).
